

A screenshot of a web browser window displaying a landing page for an AI-powered word search game. The browser's top bar shows the Google logo, a search bar with "google.com", and various control icons. The main content area features a pink header with a koala icon and four buttons: "Schedule a demo", "Pricing", "Feature", and "About us". Below the header is a large, bold title: "AI-Powered Word Search Game for Interactive K-12 Education". To the left, a pink callout box contains the text "What lesson is this for?" followed by three examples: "eg. History", "eg. The Civil War", and "eg. Grade 5", each in its own white button-like box. A large, empty rectangular area with a pink border is positioned to the right of the callout box. The overall design is clean and modern, using a color palette of pink, white, and black.
